Some Thoughts.....

I have an orchid garden on my deck. Each of the 26 orchids gets checked every day to see which needs to be pruned, fertilized, watered, debugged, given a bit more or less sun. And I talk to them—urging them to produce a bud which will open into a brilliant flower. In the midst of the garden is a plaque that states, “Gardening is a way of saying that we believe in tomorrow”.

The celebration of Easter is also a “way of saying that we believe in tomorrow”. For the majority of us, life is pretty routine. At various times we experience emotional droughts or floods, feel well or become infected with a disease, run frantically or live in the darkness of loneliness, and, we make adjustments to fit changing circumstances in our lives. In the midst of these routine experiences, Easter tells us that there is a promise of something more. Today's toils will burst forth into an incomprehensible beauty and joy.

Mahalo to all the Malia parishioners and guests for joining in our celebration of Easter. This celebration is a “way of saying that we believe in tomorrow”. May the promise of Easter burst forth in your life and in the life of your family and ohana. Fr. Joe
