Readings for Next Week, January 30 & 31, 2016, 4th Sunday in Ordinary Time – Cycle C (www.scborromeo.org/biblestudies.htm)

1st Reading – Jeremiah 1:4-5, 17-19 Jeremiah is the second of the four great prophets of Israel; a contemporary of Zephaniah, Nahum, and Habakkuk. Called by God to be a prophet at the age of 19, he remained unmarried and celibate by order of Yahweh (Jeremiah 16:2). For more than 40 years, up to his death, he remained faithful to his vocation and prophesied until after the fall of Jerusalem in 587/586 B.C. Our reading for today comes from the prologue which gives an account of his calling. It is a dialog between Yahweh and Jeremiah.

2nd Reading – 1 Corinthians 12:31-13:13 Our second reading this week continues from where we left off last week when we heard the Christian community (the Church) compared to the human body, and that no one part is more important than another as all parts serve to make the common good. Now we go on to discuss the gifts of the Holy Spirit.

Gospel – Luke 4:21-30 Of all the books in the Bible, 73 in all, only 2 were not written by Jews: Luke and Acts. Both of these were written by Luke, a Syrian convert and disciple of Paul. Last week’s Gospel reading was from the beginning of Jesus’ public ministry when He went to His home town, Nazareth, and in the synagogue read from the scroll of Isaiah. Today’s reading continues this event in His life.

If you want to review today’s readings, see 3rd Sunday in Ordinary Time-Cycle C

1st Reading – Nehemiah 8:2-4a, 5-6, 8-10

2nd Reading – 1 Corinthians 12:12-30

Gospel – Luke 1:1-4, 4:14-21

On January 23rd, we mark the feast day of St. Marianne Cope, a German-born Franciscan sister who ministered to victims of Hansen’s disease on Kaulapapa beginning in the late 1880s and carried on the work of St. Damien de Veuster there following his death.

*Extraordinary Jubilee Year of Mercy
December 8, 2015 – November 20, 2016*

O God, almighty and merciful Father,
You grant your Church a time of grace, penance, and forgiveness,
That she might have the joy to internally renew herself
By the work of the Holy Spirit,
And to journey ever more faithfully in your ways
In announcing to the world the Gospel of salvation.
Open once more the door of your mercy
And welcome us one day into your heavenly home,
Where Jesus, your Son, has gone before us
And who lives and reigns for ever and ever. Amen

- Pope Francis
Prayer at the Opening of the Holy Door
At the Lateran Archbasilica,
December 13, 2015

LITURGY COMMISSION MEETING: The Liturgy Commission will meet on Saturday, January 30th, at 2:00 p.m. in the patio.

SECOND COLLECTION, JANUARY 23rd and 24th: The 2nd Collection is for the Churches in Latin American and Black and Indian Missions. The funds provide support to the pastoral work of the Catholic Church in 25 countries in Central/South America and the Caribbean as well as provide grants to dioceses supporting the Black and American Indian communities in the United States.

MALASADA FUNDRAISER, FEBRUARY 9th: Luana will soon be buying ingredients to make her malasadas; your monetary donations will help defray the cost of these ingredients.

If you haven't done so already, purchase your malasada tickets after Mass. Tickets are $12 for a dozen malasada. Every ticket sold helps us meet our budget needs.
